COW DISTURBS BOAT'S ROUSTERS

Stampedes Them and Then Stampedes Herself

Men Sleeping on Deck Rush to the Guns but Are Prevented from Going Overboard.

SHE CONTROLLED THE DECK.

Pandemonium reigned for a while on the steamer Dick Fowler lying at the wharf last night at 11 o'clock and an occurrence purely ridiculous nearly turned into tragedy. Separated from her family and finding the bars that had held her in bondage, yielding to her pressure for liberty, a cow broke out of a pen on the boat and started on a tour of investigation.

Rousters sleep heavily after a hard day's work. They sleep around on the bawler deck on pallets, sometimes so thick that a person can't walk across the deck without kicking one. Hence the pandemonium that resulted from this cow's walking around in her enclosure. At every step she took she encountered rough-walking followed by the most outlandish yells. Of a naturally mischievous disposition, the cow was put into a panicky state of mind by the commotion her wanderings occasioned. She, too, began to grow excited. More rapid movements under her feet promptly accompanied by still greater vocal sobs run off at high pressure from fright and given volume by lusty lungs, put reason to flight.

Rousters who had not been awakened by the cow's steps, were brought to a state of bewildered consciousness, by the shouts of their companions. In the dark no idea of what was going on could be gotten. Besides, to be awakened like that could not be expected to make for calm investigation.

The rousters rushed for the guards. They didn't know whether the world had come to an end or fire had broken out. In either case probably they thought the water would be a safe place for them.

Officers on the wharfboat who had a better perspective of the events that had been transpiring, caught the frightened and half waked rousters before they took the plunge into the river. They were pulled down off the guards and the sight of the officers reassured them. The cow meanwhile, was going it in good fashion. Nothing would calm her. She had caught up the spirit of the occasion when it was at its height and was charging up and down the deck, glaring fiercely at every object.

"Aw, hell!" exclaimed the rousters in disgust.

Then they turned their attention to subduing this cause of their rudely disturbed slumbers. Not under ordinary circumstances are rousters gentle in their handling of cattle and now, stimulated by feelings of disgust and shame over their "women's pants," they closed in on the cow.

She must have felt the overpowering personalities approaching, for she got into a corner, where she obstinately remained until finally dragged out and put back in her pen. The rousters were sullen. They moved about in mental restlessness over their ridiculous fright. Finally each went to his pallet and muttered curses could be heard for several minutes until their fatigue overcame their consciousness.

Several families moved from Cairo yesterday on the Dick Fowler with their household goods to Jordan's Landing. Everything was loaded, but for some reason the single cow was overlooked and she was brought on to Paducah. This morning she was eating breakfast apparently forgetful of last night's stormy scenes.

BASKET FACTORY STARTS UP AGAIN

After a shut-down of practically several months, the Mergenthaler-Horton Basket company will resume operations Monday under Receiver W. P. Hume. In a few days, it is expected, the concern will be resuming with its complete force. Pending a suit over the property Mr. Hume was appointed to take charge, but lack of available funds caused delay in starting up. The plant had run only a few days after a three months' shut-down when the suit was instituted.

Southern Peanut Company Will Have Large Capital

Hundred Thousand Dollar Concern Takes Over Local Plant and Will Increase Business With Greater Capacity

HANDLE ALL KINDS OF NUTS.

Articles of incorporation were filed today at the court house by the Southern Peanut company, with $100,000 capital stock, to succeed the present concern by the same name at Flora and Washington streets. The old company had $10,000 capital stock owned, principally, by W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., Cook, Husbands, George C. Thompson and J. W. Scott. Mr. Scott is the only member retaining interest in the concern. He will be vice-president. Charles Hall, of St. Louis, 150; J. D. Jones, Bakerville, Tenn., 50 and W. O. Britton, city, 30 shares each. The capital stock is fixed at $100,000, divided into 1,000 shares of $100 each.

The plans of the new company are ambitious, including the erection of a new plant in Texas, the probable increasing of the capacity of the Paducah plant, the handling of all kinds of southern nuts and a general increase in facilities.

The company now does a half million dollar business in a year and has had a remarkably prosperous career.

It is the biggest concern of the kind in the United States.

CICERO ANDERSON IS CAUGHT BY DETECTIVE

Cicero Anderson, charged with being an accomplice in the cutting of John Ayres, a farmer of the Maxon Mills section, last Sunday morning on Kentucky avenue near First street, was arrested in Fulton last night and brought to Paducah this morning at 1:35 o'clock by Detective T. J. Moore.

Anderson went north from Paducah after fleeing from the city to escape arrest. He wrote a letter which fell into the hands of the authorities. It read that he would be in Fulton June 7, and Detective Moore was there to watch out for him.

There are two others in jail awaiting trial on the same charge, and the case will come up as soon as Ayres is able to leave Riverside hospital. His wounds are rapidly healing and he will be able to attend court next week, it is thought.

Anderson is a paroled convict, having been sentenced for two years for killing John Mix.

POSTOFFICE IN GRAFT BEING INVESTIGATED.

Cincinnati, June 8.—An investigation of the relations of railroads and the postoffice department by direct order of President Roosevelt, which has already caused a saving to the government of more than $2,000,000 is declared to be now under way in an article in the Times-Star.

Thirty-two postoffice inspectors are said to be at work in a case of alleged conspiracy of the railroads and postoffice department. What railroads are concerned in the allegations is not stated says the Times-Star. Briler facts are known but evidence is not at hand.

The inquiry has been going on for months, in fact, since last December. One postoffice division has charge of disbursements of $90,000,000 annually, and enough has been learned investigation to avert the United States $2,000,000 a year.

MAD DOG SCARE IS UNFOUNDED

Doctor Says Cases of Rabies are Rare

Dogs Feel Ill and Cross, but People Nag Them and Dogs Resent It, of Course.

FEELS SOHRY FOR THE DOGS.

"Why all this shooting of dogs supposed to be mad?" asked a prominent physician this morning. "I haven't picked up the Sun any day this week that I haven't noticed of a mad dog being shot. You say two were shot this morning, and yet I'll venture to say that there have not been a dozen genuine mad dogs in Paducah in 20 years. A case of hydrocephalus is rare but the number of times that have been shot in the last ten days from having this disease makes a professional man dubious about the correctness of the report."

"You ask what is the matter with the dogs, that they certainly act queerly and frequently bite persons. Nothing in the world in nine cases out of ten, but a spell of irritation on the part of the dog. Do you know of any animal that has to stand as much nagging as a dog? Children abuse them and grown folks think they are never wearied by play. A dog gets tired of playing, the weather is hot, but the nagging goes on just the same. Is it any wonder that he sometimes gets irritated and resorts to his natural means of defense—a bite? In our relations with dogs we rarely take notice when they are sick, unless they are so sick they can't move, and you know how quarreling a person is when he is half sick. Why can't we suppose that a dog has some characteristics of other animals, and instead of shooting one every time he isn't normal or bites somebody, use a little common judgment in the case? Do we shoot a horse that gets irritated and bites somebody?"

"In the popular mind, every dog that acts queerly or bites somebody is mad, and that's what he shot forthwith. Ask anybody you know how many persons he can remember of having died from a mad-dog bite and you will find how rare is a real case of the rabies. There is that popular conceit about mad-stones and other fakes that are religiously clung to by the great mass of the people. I look forward to the time when we shall be more rational in this matter."

A business man who made a trip south this week said he never saw a good stand of corn in 100 miles. And June is the month corn is supposed to be laid by. Tobacco and cotton are likewise.

FUGITIVE ARRESTED.

Charged with being an accomplice in a housebreaking charge, Charles Darnell was taken back to Marion, Ill., yesterday afternoon to stand trial, returning without a guilty plea. He was arrested by Patrolman Michael Dugan in Mechanicsburg on a description given him by Marshal J. W. Blanketon, of Marion, Ill., who came here searching for Darnell. A hardware store at Marion was broken into last week and three young men suddenly left town. Darnell followed, arresting two of them in Brookport. Darnell, the third, had come here and it required but a short time to locate him. Three pistols, two dozen pocket knives and other articles, all identified as stolen from the Marion hardware store, were found in Darnell's possession.

County School Superintendent S. J. Billington this morning made his appointments to the state normal school at Bowling Green for the summer term. City teachers are anxious to go, and the following five were appointed, their tuition being free: Misses Helene McBrown, Elsie Hoechster, Beulah Karnea, Lucy Scott and Jessie Clegg. Miss McBrown is already at Bowling Green, and the others will leave today and tomorrow to be present Monday at the beginning of the term. Superintendent Billington is authorized to appoint ten.

New seats will be installed.

BOARD OF HEALTH WILL PROSECUTE

No more leniency will be shown to recalcitrant property owners by the board of health. "Heretofore it has been the custom," said a member of the board today, "to dismiss prosecution, when a person charged with maintaining a nuisance abates it; but we shall discontinue that practice. The idea has gone abroad that the board drops the prosecution, because it can not prevail. We give people three days notice before swearing out warrants, and that is time enough. If they show good cause, we shall extend the time. Otherwise, hereafter, they will be cited to ordinance court and prosecuted, regardless of the fact, that after their arrest they obey the order.

HORSE IS SHOT.

The total cost of the school house is estimated at $15,000.

S.S.S. HEALS OLD SORES

An old sore or ulcer is only a symptom, an outlet for the impurities and poisons which are in the blood, and as long as this vital fluid remains in this impure, contaminated state the place will never heal. The application of salves, washes, powders, etc., may cause the spot to sear over, but a fresh outpouring of diseased matter from the blood starts it again, and thus it goes on, gradually growing worse and slowly affecting the entire health of the sufferer. There are many ways in which the blood becomes contaminated and poisoned. A long spell of sickness breeds disease germs in the system, the failure of the eliminative members to remove the refuse and waste matter of the body, the excessive use of mineral medicines in certain diseases, all infect the blood with morbid matter and germs which sooner or later is manifested by a sore that refuses to heal. Persons with inherited blood taint are very apt to be afflicted with sores and ulcers. The taint may lie dormant during young, vigorous life, but when middle age is reached or passed and the natural energies begin to grow weaker, the tissues in some weak points break down and a chronic sore is formed and kept open by the constant drainage of impure matter from the blood. If the cause is not removed the sore will continue to grow worse by eating deeper into the flesh, festering, discharging, and slowly undermining the constitution. S. S. S. heals old sores by going down to the very bottom of the trouble, driving out the impurities and building up the entire circulation. When S. S. S. has removed the cause the blood becomes rich and healthy, the sore begins to heal, new flesh is formed, and soon the place is cured. Do not depend on external applications, which do not reach the blood, but begin the use of S. S. S. and remove of the cause, and then the sore must heal. Mo., will arrive on Monday to visit her cousin, Mrs. Ell G. Boone, at 308 South Sixth street. Miss January visited in Paducah several years ago and made a delightful social impression. In her honor a number of informal affairs are already planned for coming week. Mrs. David Lind, van Cullin will entertain at Flye Hundred on Tuesday afternoon at her apartments in the Scott Flats. Mrs. Hal S. Corbett, of 322 North Eighth street, will have the Flye Hundred club on Wednesday morning at her home in compliment to Miss January. On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Hubbard S. Wells, of the Empire Apartment, will give an informal bridge party. Mrs. R. G. Terrell, of 516 Kentucky avenue, will entertain at cards informally on Friday afternoon.

Invitations to Louisville Wedding Received on Account of Illness.

On account of the serious illness of Mr. Robert Horner, of Louisville, the invitations to the wedding reception of Miss Elizabeth Burnett and Mr. Horner on Tuesday afternoon have been recalled. Mr. Horner has been moved to the Norton Infirmary and the wedding, if it takes place on the date, will be solemnized very quietly with only the parents of the bride and groom present. Mr. Horner's father and mother arrived in Louisville today from Philadelphia to attend the wedding, having come overland in a motor car. While considered very ill, Mr. Horner's physicians are hopeful of his ultimate recovery. The news here has occasioned great regret among the host of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burnett and Miss Horner. The Paducahans who were to attend the wedding, will not go.

Several Paducah people are among the attendants and others are well known here.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. E. S. Harris, of the First Methodist church at Humboldt. The wedding music will be an attractive feature and will be sung by: Mrs. Ernest Hamilton, of Humboldt; Mr. Bradley Roe, of Jackson; Mrs. Marvin McSwain, of Paris, and Miss Leverne Wright, of Humboldt. HAPPY RESULTS OBTAINED.

By the Use of the New Scalp Antiseptic.

It wouldn't take long to number the hairs in the heads of some people, the reason being they haven't many to number. In most instances, however, the fault is their own. A germ at the root soon plays havoc with the most luxuriant growth and causes it to fade and fall out. A remedy for this has recently been discovered, called Newbro's Herpicide, that gets by destroying the germ that does the damage, besides removing all impurities from the scalp. In addition it permits new life and vigor to enter the scalp, and happy results are sure to be obtained from its use. Try it. Sold by leading drugists. Two sizes, 50¢ and $1.00. Send 10¢ in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit Mich. W. B. McPherson, Special Agent.

Same Souci Club. Mrs. David M. Flounoy's entertainment at the Souci Club at cards very charmingly at her country place, "Homewood," on Friday afternoon. The tables were attractively arranged on the porch and a prettily appointed luncheon was served after the game. At each place was a souvenir bunch of sweet peas. The club prize, a dainty set of pearl beauty pins, was won by Mrs. John W. Scott. Miss Pauline Hilton captured the guest prize, a pair of silk hose. It was strictly a club affair with only Miss Hilton and two out-of-town guests:

Memphis, Tenn., will be solemnized this afternoon at five o'clock at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Fred Rind, 215 Fountain avenue. It will be a pretty home ceremonial characterized by the charm of the utmost simplicity and will be witnessed only by a few of Miss Hopkins' most intimate girl friends and a limited number of the family friends of her grandmother, the late Mrs. W. S. McNary, one of Paducah's most popular women.

The ceremony will be said by the Rev. David Cady Wright rector of Grace Episcopal church, and there will be no attendants. The bride will wear a stylish traveling costume of brown velveteen, with coat and a blouse of brown embroidered pongre. The hat, gloves and shoes will be harmonious shades of brown. She will carry a prayer-book in place of the bridal bouquet.

Light refreshments will be served after the ceremony and the couple will leave at 6:15 o'clock for Memphis, Tenn., to visit Mr. Cohn's father and mother on Belvedere avenue.

Important business in connection with the Asphalt Paving company's work here will call Mr. Coburn back to Paducah next week and has caused a postponement of the planned bridal trip. Later they will go east and will be for the autumn and winter at Little Rock, Ark., where Mr. Coburn, who is assistant superintendent of the Memphis Asphalt Paving company, will have charge of some big work.

Series of Receptions.

The week has been a series of receptions in celebration of commencement week. All have been pretty and elaborate affairs and were a happy promise for the future of the young hosts and hostesses in the gracious art of entertaining. The High school auditorium was the scene of the entertainments and was elaborately decorated in the class colors, a different color scheme for each evening. The Freshman class received on Monday evening to honor the Seniors and presented an attractive musical program. On Tuesday evening the Juniors and Sophomores were the hosts. It was an informal reception with no program. An orchestra played during the evening and the olive and gold of the Juniors and the blue and gold of the Sophomores were prettily interwoven with the class flowers—sweet peas—of the Seniors in evidence. Ices and cakes were served. Wednesday night was class night and the Seniors held class night. They presented an exceedingly clever program of the usual "class day" features in an unusual way. It was a "living magazine" and black and gold was the color motif.

The annual reception for the class of 1907 on Friday evening was an appropriate finale to the week's round of pleasant affairs. It took place at the Eagle's building and the parlors were prettily decorated in the Alumni colors of red and white. The crimson rambler roses and white roses were used with pretty effect.

The delightful ices and cakes carried out the red and white motif.

The officers of the Alumni assisted by the High school faculty and the guests of honor, received in the front parlor. The dining room was presided over by: Misses Clara

Thompson, Ova List, Malie Gardner,

Beulah Rogers, Elizabeth Shinn,

Anna Larklin, Mary Brazelton.

It was a most attractive occasion and a number of guests were present.

Five Hundred Club.

Mrs. Armour Gardner entertained the Five Hundred club on Wednesday morning at her home on Fountain avenue. It was a delightful club affair with a limited number of outside guests. The house was charmingly decorated in Crimson Rambler roses and the red and white motif was carried out in the pretty course luncheon. The club prize was taken by Mrs. Hal Corbett. Miss Harriet Raines, of Nashville, Tenn., captured the visitors' prize. The guests were:

Mesdames W. F. Braishaw, L. A.

Washington, Charles K. Wheeler,

Henry Hughes, Ben Welle, Robert

Reeves, Victor Voris, Harris Rankin,

Hal Corbett, Hughes McKnight, Luke

Russell, H. G. Reynolds, W. J. Hills,

PETER PITTYEAR,
Notary Public,
My commission expires January 22, 1908.Daily Thought.
"Our worries would be few if it were not for the things that never happen."GROPING FOR AN ISSUE.
It's a pity that a man of Mr. Bryan's philosophical temperament and mentality, should so identify himself with partisanship, that he must always lay upon public questions with an eve single to their utility as a campaign issue. An example of his attitude is afforded in a recent interview with the great commander on the issue of 1898, in which he says:

The financial issue is not the same now as it was in 1896. It is not due to the Republican party, however, but to natural causes, such as the world's increased gold supply, which was accomplished in a measure by the campaign of 1896.

Mr. Bryan has talked about "flat money" and what he would do with his pot measures in establishing monetary value, until the echo of his own voice has come back to him like the arguments of an adversary.

Why can not he content himself with the observation that the financial issue is not the same now as it was in 1906? Why must he needs add, "It is not due to the Republican party?"

The Republican party never pretended that anything but "natural causes" were needed in the case. The trouble with Mr. Bryan is, he has been pronouncing "flat money" and bumping his head against "natural causes" so long that he has got into a chronic state of opposition to anything natural and real. "Natural causes" to be sure, made a joke of Mr. Bryan's financial theory, but the Republican party in this instance got hung up on the side with "natural causes," and so must be accorded credit, at least, for being on the right side of the question.

The party press, on the other hand, has recognized in a measure the trouble and is ignoring Bryan's later utterance. Any indication of a new issue sends the pack baying in the scent of a possibility, and just now the Courier-Journal is "lead bound on the trail." "Back to the conservative," is the cry.

Say the Courier-Journal: "Does the Courier-Journal then shoot wide of the mark when it says 'let me go back to first principles?' In a general, rather than an explicit way, that is its attitude to the debate. It says: 'Let me have done with sentimental rainbow-basting among the clouds of fancy.' The contention is a blanket broad enough to cover the whole country."

It is enough. All the others have caught the new note. There is just a suggestion of irony in the situation.

Conservatism is the rallying bugle of the press, which followed Bryan for free silver, Parker for single gold standard and Edward Atkinson for Philippine independence, and they are as radiantly and more resounding for conservatism as they were once opposed to it.

If they only knew it, the most popular thing just now for a potential candidate to do, is to declare he will "return the policies of the present administration."

It is a fine term Republicans have just coined "flat money" by the name of "Hurt." We like not the sound of that name, though the spelling is remunerating.

Whether his story is true or not, Harry Orchard is a self-confessed rogue, and Moyer and Haywood were in mighty shady company when they associated with him.

It is odd that the head of the Standard brakeman should be killed in a runaway machine.

THEM'S OUR SENTIMENTS.

A communication in the Louisville Herald says:

"I have just finished reading your Walks-Minute column in today's Herald. It started out with Paducah and it ended with Paducah; I enjoyed every line of it. I visited Paducah a few years ago to attend the Kentucky State Medical society and I had a royal good time. I was delegate-at-large, chairman, secretary, etc., of the whole Tenth district. I was the only man there from the Tenth. One of the young M. D.'s from 'The Purchase' doubted my statement that I was from the Tenth but Dr. Steele Balley vouched for me and my place of abode, and the chairman allowed me to place Dr. Martin F. Coomes' name before the delegates for president of the State Medical society."

I hope that Paducah will send a delegation to the coming Republican convention instigated for the Hon. Augustus E. Wilson."

CASLUS DUDLEY MANSFIELD,

M. D.

HANDS OFF MCCRACKEN.

Somebody outside of McCracken county has use for the McCracken county delegation to the Republican state convention. The outsider is opposed to the candidacy of Hon.

Augustus E. Wilson and to Capt.

Ed Farley, McCracken county's candidate for state treasurer. The same course will be attempted here and in every county in the First congressional district to secure uninstructed delegations. The Republicans of this county do not have to endorse

Mr. Wilson for governor, but they ought to endorse somebody.

It is right that the majority of the Republicans, who attend the county convention should prevail at the convention, and it is right that the expression of their opinion should be impressed on the state convention.

The only way in which the will of the convention can be carried out in the state convention, is by sending instructed delegates. If the delegates go to Louisville without instructions, it will not be worth any man's while to attend the county convention, because the delegates can do as they please at Louisville, anyway.

If any man seeks the nomination for governor of Kentucky, let him announce it openly and then enter into a fair, square contest for delegates before the county convention.

Hon. Augustus E. Wilson has declared himself a candidate. He is the only man in the state, who has come on in such a public statement;

but somebody desrons of accomplishing some purpose that does not yet appear, is making a play in the First district to control the delegations, so that he may use them for leading stock.

McCracken county is for Capt. Ed

Farley. We believe, also, that it is for Hon. Augustus E. Wilson, but that will appear later. The delegates should be instructed to vote for Capt. Farley for state treasurer and for whoever the Republicans favor for governor. Don't let play into the hands of some self-seeking politician, who has not the manhood to come out and make an open fight

by sending an uninstructed delegation.

The Republican party never pretended that anything but "natural causes" were needed in the case.

The trouble with Mr. Bryan is, he has been pronouncing "flat money" and bumping his head against "natural causes" so long that he has got into a chronic state of opposition to anything natural and real. "Natural causes" to be sure, made a joke of Mr. Bryan's financial theory, but the Republican party in this instance got hung up on the side with "natural causes," and so must be accorded credit, at least, for being on the right side of the question.

It will be found to be an admirable summary of the situation which confronts the Republicans of Kentucky at this juncture, and to ring true with the out-poken mindness that has always been characteristic of the men from whom it comes. Mr. Wilson made it clear that if chosen as the nominee of the party for the office of governor he will be a man without shackles, free to follow his enlightened conscience in an earnest and aggressive effort to further the best interests of Kentucky politically, financially and educationally.

He laid emphasis on the fact that the administration would seek to secure a square deal for all, whether Democrat or Republican, and frankly and fairly absolved any man who differed with him or thought he was not the best candidate that could be chosen from any obligation to support him, even as he himself held him most free from obligation to any lessor claim than duty.

Following Judge Wilson's addre-sion, the resolution was unanimously carried, indorsing him for the gubernatorial candidacy, and tendering him

the chair of the meeting.

If they only knew it, the most popular thing just now for a potential candidate to do, is to declare he will "return the policies of the present administration."

WILL REMAIN UNCHANGED SAYS SUPREME ASSEMBLAGE.

Uniform Rank in National Convention Takes Up Questions Concerning Brigades.

Norfolk, Ga., June 8.—The supreme assembly of the Uniformed Bank of Knights of Pythias today voted down the proposition for a change in uniforms. The assembly returned back to the committee for report at the next meeting the amendment proposing no brigade having less than 15 companies be allowed representation in the supreme assembly. A resolution was passed giving brigade commanders the power to accept resignations of field and line officers. The resolution providing that jewel honors be bestowed on line officers after serving one term instead of two was defeated. An amendment was passed with but one dissenting vote permitting the election of brigade officers by letter.

Social Afternoon at First Baptist Church.

The superintendent and teachers of the primary department of the First Baptist Sunday school will entertain the mothers of the children of this department in an informal way next Tuesday afternoon at the church (lower floor) from 2:30 to 4:30.

It is hoped that any who have failed to receive their invitation, as it was impossible to get all the addresses correct, will attend. Each mother is earnestly requested to be present without further notice.

The entertainment will be entirely informal and is planned so that the teachers and mothers of the pupils may become better acquainted. The children are not expected as it is a "growing-up" affair entirely. Light refreshments will be served and the pastor, the Rev. Calvin M. Thompson, D. D., will make a short address. There will be music also. Over 200 invitations have been issued but the addresses were difficult to secure and it is desired that no one feel unlooked.

Mr. Ernest L. Stevens and wife, of Paris, went home yesterday after visiting Mrs. Stevens' mother, Mrs. M. W. Williams, of North Fifth street, who accompanied her daughter home to spend the summer.

Robert Sanderson, of Mayfield, has come to Paducah to accept a position with the Paducah Ice company.

Mrs. C. W. Wooldridge, of 1837 Guthrie avenue, is ill of fever.

PEOPLE AND SOCIAL EVENTS

Mrs. Dorian's School Has Successful Closing.

The Alpha society of Mrs. John J. Dorian's private school, at Fourth and Adams streets, gave an attractive entertainment on Friday afternoon at the school. An admirably planned musical and literary program with a debate, "Resolved That Printing is the Greatest Invention," as a special feature, was carried out. In the debate both the negative and affirmative sides were so good in their arguments that the judges were unable to decide and gave honors to both. They were: Rose Langston, Mary Lynn, Viola Miller, Edwin Lightfoot, Mary Dorian, Conway Dorian, affirmative; Lena Flint, Alvina Potter, Dorothy Miller, Fowler Post, Helen Powell, Vern Province, negative. An informal reception with delightful refreshments followed the program. The class colors red and white were prettily carried out in the decorations and refreshments.

GRAVES COUNTY.

Mayfield, June 8.—Some one entered the grocery store of Thomas & Carnan, on the southeast corner of the square, and stole $8 cents and a quantity of candy and tobacco. Entrance was gained through Mr. Taylor's office, which is in the rear of the store, by breaking a small hole in a window by which means the lock on the window was unfastened.

Mrs. Leander Story, a well beloved wife, died Wednesday at her home near Harris Grove in the south part of the county. She was the daughter of Dr. Sherman, and was a good Christian woman with many friends and relatives who are grieving over her death. She leaves besides her husband, two brothers and two sisters. The funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Sinking Springs, Culloway county.

A Cairo paper contains the following bit of news that will be interesting as well as surprising to a number of Mayfield citizens: "Mr. H. M. Hill and Miss Clara Mae Millburn (both of Cairo) were quietly married Sunday evening at the Episcopal parsonage. Mr. Hill is one of Cairo's energetic news producers, a printer, and his charming bride is one of the popular young ladies." Mr. Hill is well known in Graves county. He formerly lived in Wingo and also made Mayfield his home for several years.

DU QUOIN CYCLONE DOES MUCH DAMAGE

Thousands of Dollars Lost in Ruin of Crops

Illinois Central Passenger Train Runs
With Wind and Is Thus Saved.

VEGETATION IS BEATEN DOWN

DU Quoin, Ill., June 8.—A cyclone accompanied by a tremendous ball and rain storm, swept over Du Quoin and vicinity at 7:30 o'clock last evening doing damage to residence property and crops which will run far into the thousands. Many persons were injured although none are believed to be fatally hurt.

The violence of the storm, which was by far the worst that has ever swept this section of the state, is shown by the fact that four loaded box cars were blown from a moving Illinois Central freight train and piled up in a nasty wreck in the main yards while one of the cars was blown across the yards to a point 75 feet away from the main track.

Trees were uprooted, dozens of houses were lifted from their foundations while many were unrooted. Scores of sheds, signs and small buildings were blown, wrenched and uprooted. A large number of miners had quit work.

Hall Beats Down Crops.

Immense damage was done to all crops in the vicinity of Du Quoin by the heavy wind and hail. Hailstones varying in size from a pea to ones as large as base balls fell in great numbers for a period of 20 minutes. Windows were broken and growing crops beaten down by the heavy fall of the stones.

Had not Illinois Central train No. 23 been running with the storm it would doubtless have been damaged by the ball. Passengers on the train say that the roar of the storm and the train was completely drowned out by the heavy beating of the ball on the roof. One man opened a window and a half stone as large as his fist fell into the car.

Had the tornado occurred an hour or so later the passenger train would have probably been wrecked instead of the freight train. Conductor McKee was notified of the Du Quoin wreck at Tamaroa and held his train there for 20 minutes until it was found that it could enter Du Quoin by the way of the Eldorado west track.

Passengers and crew on train No. 23 say that when the train left Centralia at 5 o'clock a heavy rain was falling and that between Irvington and Richview the heaviest of the ball fell. At Elkhorn, seven miles south of Du Quoin there was no rain and only a slight breeze.

It is reported tonight from Marshall, Ill., that the storm also struck that town doing much damage and killing Henry Rook and Mrs. Pinkerton.

Almost a Cloudburst.

The rainfall amounted practically to a cloudburst and accompanied by the ball, almost paralyzed railroad traffic and made the work of clearing the wrecks especially difficult. Water was standing in the streets and railroad tracks almost ankle deep and in some places even deeper.

The train from which the cars were blown was an extra north bound freight in charge of Conductor F. E. Moss of Centralia. Three of the cars were completely wrecked and turned up in hopeless confusion across the two main tracks. The car that was blown across the yards was an empty and was also smashed almost to splinters.

No Damage at Cairo.

Cairo, Ill., June 8.—The storm yesterday did no damage here but other communities were not so fortunate. At Mound City the residence of Dr. Mathes was struck by lightning and the roof badly torn, damage being done also to the interior.

DISCREDIT TALE OF HARRY ORCHARD

Attempt of Counsel of Defense in Haywood Trial

Show That Witness Was in Employ Both of Miners' Union and Operators' Detectives.

DAY OF CROSS-EXAMINATION

Bolse, Idaho, June 8.—Counsel for Haywood continued to attack Harry Orchard's testimony and centered their strongest assault on the events beginning with the explosion at the Vindicator mine and ending with the earlier meetings between the witness and the leaders of the Federation of Miners in Denver. To the extent that traffic with the other side of the war of labor and capital in Colorado was discreditable, they succeeded in discrediting the witness.

Taking up the admission that Orchard made in direct examination that he had been treacherous to his compatriots in Cripple Creek by tipping off the trainwreck plot, they developed the fact that Orchard entered the employ of D. C. Scott, who had charge of railway detectives. Orchard said that with Scott he had met K. C. Sterling, a detective in the employ of the Mine Owners' association, and that Scott had paid him expenses and accompanied him to Denver on a trip when he first met Moyer and Haywood.

Connected With Both Sides.

Orchard said he had agreed to report to Scott but that he was lying to him; that he never intended to make reports to him and never did make reports. The defense also tried to show that because he stood in with the other side Orchard was never molested by the militia in Cripple Creek during the strike. Orchard admitted that Scott had told him that if the militia interfered with him he was to send for him and that the militia never did interfere with him or search his house.

Orchard said he went to Scott first he had not been paid for his work at the Vindicator mine and he boldly because he was given hard work like the Vindicator job while other men got the simple task of train wrecking by displacing a rail.

Weave Web of Doubt on Story.

Defense endeavored to throw a shadow of doubt and improbability around the whole Vindicator story and the alleged connection of W. F. Davis and William Easterly with the affair and circumstances under which Orchard testified he met Moyer and Miss Scott at 333 North Ninth street. Miss Stripling and Miss Scott were classmates at Monticello seminary, Godfrey, Ill., and Miss Scott was Miss Stripling's guest last autumn.

Miss Anne Stripling, of Fort Worth, Texas, will arrive on Wednesday to visit Miss Marjorie Scott at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fields, where Mrs. McGary is visiting. They will make their home in Portland.

Keep Your Bowels Open

It is a noticeable fact, and one which any doctor will verify, that people who suffer most often from disease are the ones who have the most difficulty in keeping their bowels open. Regular bowel action is half the battle of health.

People who have a tendency to constipation must of necessity use something to help nature along. This should not be a violent aid like salts or purgative waters, calomel pills or powders, but a syrup liquid that will oil the intestines and membranes that it comes in contact with.

Children, women and weak people grow much older than they are physically, as it weakens the system and it is futile for the strongest person because the ruler is simply for that day, and the reaction sets in to the reverse.

What is needed is a gentle laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Peppermint. Peppermint has been taking it for sixteen years and it is a good laxative. It is a gentle laxative, not a purgative, and it is worth a hundred times that to any sufferer.

Wise mothers keep it constantly in the house for emergencies because it is needed at some times and is a good laxative.

Dr. Luella Underhill, the medical superintendent of the Working Woman's Home of Chicago, has recommended it in cases of constipation.

It is a laxative that is used whenever a stomach complaint is brought to her attention. No other laxative is used in the Home. Buy a bottle and remember results.

The KING of DIAMONDS.

By Louis Tracy,
Author of "Wings of the Morning," "The Pillar of Light," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1903, BY EDWARD J. CLODE.

At last he reached the comparative seclusion of the Embankment and stood for a moment to gaze fixedly at the swirling, glistening river. "Not here," he muttered aloud. "I must be nearer to mother—dear old mother! She is there waiting for me."

He trudged steadily away through Queen Victoria street, Cornhill, Leadgate street, and so on to Johnson's Mews in the Mile End road. Pausing at a marlins store dealer's shop kept by an army pensioner, an Irishman, with whom he had a slight acquaintance, he entered. An elderly man was intently reading a paper of the preceding day's date.

"Good evening, Mr. O'Brien," he said. "Can you oblige me with a piece of rope? I want a strong piece about three or four yards in length. I can only spare three huffpuffence."

"Faux, I daud. They use nads on the crates mostly nowadays. If I have a bit it's at yer service. I wouldn't be after chargin' the likes of you."

Philip's story was known in that humble locality, and the old soldier sympathized with the boy. "He has rate spunk un' no mistake," was his verdict when others said Philip was proud and overbearing. O'Brien moved rheumatically about the squeak shop. At last he found some portion of a clothesline.

"What do that?" he inquired.

Philip tested it with vigorous pulling against his knee.

"Excellently," he said. "Let me pay you for it."

"Arruh, go awny wld ye! And, be the powers, isn't the poor lad could'nt finished? Luke here, now. In like minutes I'm goin' to have a cup o' tea."

"I am awfully obliged to you, but I could not touch a morsel. I am in a hool."

"Are ye goin' n' journey? Have ye got a job?"

"I think so. It looks like a permanency, Goobly."

"Goobly, an' gool link to ye. Sure the boy looks mighty quare. 'Tis grief for his mother has turned his head entirely."

No words could more clearly express Philip's condition than this friendly summing up. Since his mother had been half demented, his curl, disconnected answers had lost him two places as an errand boy, which he could easily have secured. His small stock of money, ridiculously depleted by the generosity with which he met the open hints of the undertaker's assistants, barely sufficed to keep him in food for a week. Then he sought employment, but with such still upper lip and hangdog indifference to success that he unknowingly turned those against him who would have assisted him.

For two days he was chosen to act as van boy for a parcel delivery firm. He earned a few cents, but in a fit of aberration induced by the sight of a lady who was dressed in a costume similar to one he remembered his mother wearing at Dingley, he allowed a man to be stolen from the rear of the van. This procured his instant dismissal, with threats. Then he sold newspapers, only to find that every good site was jealously guarded by a gang of ruffians who mercilessly bullied any newcomer. Personal strength and courage were unavailable against sheer numbers. His face was still swollen and his ribs sore as the result of being knocked down and kicked at Ludgate Circus. At Charing Cross next day he was hustled under the wheels of an omnibus and narrowly escaped death. So he was driven into the side streets and the quiet squares, in which, during three or four days, he managed to earn an average of eighteen cents daily, which he spent on food.

Each night he crept back to the poor tenement in Johnson's News, his bleak "home" amid the solitude of empty stables and warehouses. The keeper of a coffee stall, touched one night by his woe-begone appearance, gave him some half dried coffee grounds in a paper, together with a handful of crists.

"Put 'arf that in a pint of water," he said, looking critically at the sodden mass of coffee, "an' when it comes to a hilt let it settle. It'll sureforn it tastes on a cold night. As for the crusts, if you bike 'em over the fire, they're just as good as the rusks you buy in this."

This good Samaritan had repeated his gift on two occasions, and Philip had a fairly large supply of small coal, sent to his mother by the coffee company, so his position, desperate enough, was yet bearable had he but sought to reconstruct himself to the new conditions of life. There was a chance that his wild broodings would have yielded to the necessity to earn a living, and that when next a situation was offered to him he would keep it, but the occurrences of this stormy night had utterly shaken him for the hour. He was on the verge of lunacy.

As he passed through the dark arched way leading to his abode, the desolate stable yard was fitfully lit by lightning and in the distance he heard the faint rumble of thunder. The elemental strife was beginning again. This was the second and more disastrous outbreak of the evening of March 18.

Although wet to the skin, he was warm now on account of his long and rapid walk. When he unlocked the door another flash of lightning revealed the dismal interior. He closed not the surrounding walls constructed of stone and brick there must have been an immediate outbreak of the.

As it was, the glass in the windows cracked and the woodwork began to wobble. In the same instant a dreadful roll of thunder swept over the locality, and a deluge of rain, without any further warning, descended.

All this seemed to the wonderboy to be a very long time in passing. In reality it occupied but a very few seconds. People in the distant street could not distinguish the crash of the far-off meteor from the accompanying thunder, and the downpour of rain came in the very nick of time to prevent the wood in the house and the neighboring factories from blazing forth into a disastrous fire.

The torrent of water caused a dense volume of steam to generate in the back yard, and this helped to minimize the strange light shooting up from the cavity. There was a mad hissing and crackling as the rain poured over the meteor and gradually dimmed its brightness. Pandemonium raged in that curiously secluded nook.

Anxious and cowed, not by the natural phenomenon he had witnessed, but by the interpretation he placed on his boyish misfortune, he fled into the police station yesterday afternoon to arrange for getting away.

"I am disabled by lamboigo and kidney trouble, and have been in the Home four months," he explained as he painfully sat down in a chair. "I want to get home, to Wilkesbarre, Pa., and want permission to sell corn and nut the streets, a salve of my own manufacture."

Police Captain Frank Harlan became interested. He came from Mount Holly, N. J., "just across the river," and interrogated the old fellow. Barber "wintered" with his efforts there for years and knew almost as much about Mount Holly as did Captain Harlan.

"I was boss canvasman 'carried the tape' as they put it, with Sibley Bros.' show for 16 years, and acted in the same capacity for the Four-panch shows for an equal number of years. I have travelled all over the United States and have been to Australia, but never braved the Atlantic to the Old Country. I am now 70 years old, and since leave circus 12 years ago, when I outlived my usefulness with the shows, have been spending my summers in the north about my home, and the winters in the south. I walk the entire distance selling my corn salve to farmers. When I strike a town I stay for a few days selling my wares, and in this way have made expenses for 12 years until attacked by lamboigo and kidney trouble, which caused me to go to the poor farm."

Barber does not show his age except by his stooped position, and feeble walk. He hopes to pick up a few dimes to get to Louisville, where he has friends, who will assist him home. He can not walk more than a square at the time, and will have to go to the poor farm."

Barber complimented the county sanitarian, saying it was an excellent institution with everything possible for the comfort of the inmates.
